

We do not formally assign summer reading and we will not test students on it. However, students who read regularly tend to be more successful in both their everyday learning experiences and on standardized testing. We encourage students to read independently in order to expand their knowledge of literary works, strengthen their reading and comprehension skills, and develop a lifelong enjoyment of reading. Any of the titles listed below will provide an opportunity for incoming freshmen to prepare for some of the works that they are likely to encounter in their high school English courses.

All Quiet on the Western Front

A Separate Peace

A Tree Grows in Brooklyn

Good Night, Mr. Tom

I Am Malala

The Adventures of Tom Sawyer

The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn

The Hunger Games
